

Storyboard by Loring Todd

Oh no! Larry bought tickets to the Lions game but a day before the game, he finds out that those tickets were fake! He needs 4 tickets for him and his family for his oldest son's birthday

With no available options, Larry talks with other people that he knows and his buddy Franky, introduces him to Ticket Haul which is an up and coming app.

Larry is at first hesitant but he downloads the app and is astounded by the prices and available ticket options for football games and concerts.

Larry finds a ticket bundle for 4 people and a VIP package for a steal! He is super excited to surprise his family especially his son with the VIP package. This is a first time experience for the entire family!

Larry and his family had an absolute blast at the football game. They were able to get in easily through the gates. Their favorite part was the VIP section. They got to meet all the players and the team won!

From there on out, Larry has used Ticket Haul to buy tickets for so many events. He recently just went to a Pink Floyd concert. With Ticket Haul, Larry has had an absolute blast at many events without worrying about his wallet.

Alex Rummel

Joe loves to buy tickets online to support his favorite team. He always sees commercials on TV that sponsor different ticket buying apps, but none of them fit his criteria for a ticket-buying app.

The different apps that Joe finds always have something missing that prevents him from using that specific app. Tickets are too expensive, not good enough seats for the price, no discount deals, etc.

Joe struggles for years trying to find the perfect ticket buying app, until one day when his closest friend tells him about the app that will change the way online ticket buying is done forever.

Joe thinks that this app is too good to be true, so he starts researching on his phone for this app. He searches the name of the app, “Ticket Haul,” up on Safari.

As he reads into the app more and more, he actually believes this could be the app he has been looking for for years. Everything about the app fit his criteria and he couldn't believe it.

Joe uses Ticket Haul for a long time, since there is no replacement for it when it comes to buying tickets online. Joe becomes happy that he can finally enjoy going to sports games while not spending his life savings to buy a ticket. “Ticket Haul is the best ticket buying app on the market right now, I would recommend it to anyone,” says Joe Jenkins.